3rd Annual World Shorebirds Day at SPI Birding & Nature Center

Celebrate the wonder of shorebird migration at the South Padre Island Birding & Nature Center on Saturday, September 8th from 9:30am-12pm. Shorebirds are incredible birds with some of the longest distance migrations out of any family of birds with many of them stopping by SPI as they migrate to and from nesting grounds as far north as the Arctic tundra!

Shorebirds are often overlooked by visitors and birders because of their small size, their camouflage with the landscape, and because they can be a challenge to identify. Join naturalists at the SPIBNC as they bring special attention to these birds on guided shorebird tours and have fun participating in an international shorebird counting effort for conservation and enjoying educational crafts and games about these extraordinary birds during the peak of their fall migration! Admission will be at a special $3 per person reduced rate during this fun family event!
